Sgt. Doug Roller-Chief Trainer for the Los Angeles Police Department K-9 Platoon, Metropolitan Division. He is a nationally recognized expert in K-9 tactics, perimeter containment, and search techniques with over 5,000 K-9 deployments. Doug has been a member of the LAPD since 1984. In his 28 years of service Doug has been assigned to the K-9 Platoon Division for 21 years and has been the Chief K-9 Trainer for 14 years. Doug has worked patrol division, Rampart Gang Unit, and Complaint Investigation Unit and has received numerous unit commendations and LAPD's Bravery Under Fire Medal.

High-Risk Search Tactics for K-9 & Patrol takes a "boots on the ground" look at high-risk K-9 searches, perimeter search tactics, command post set-up & operations, demonstrating the importance of team work and having a "containment mind set."

This ITOA course is divided into two parts; a one-day lecture portion and a combined three-day course.

Day one lecture June 7th -takes an in-depth look at the techniques and tactics used everyday by the Los Angeles Police Department. The response to critical incidents require officers to understand perimeter tactics, command post operations, search team set-up and high-risk searches utilizing K-9, patrol, and SWAT.

Three-Day course June 7th 8th & 9th -students will participate in real world scenarios incorporating hands-on training in perimeter set-up, command post operations, and high-risk search tactics integrating K-9 with patrol & SWAT officers. In addition, K-9 problem solving and E-collar training will be offered to K-9 teams. Training locations, times, and equipment list will be supplied upon registration for the three day course.
